Caira in Senate race, Miceli out

A half-dozen candidates have announced intentions of running for the seat of now-resigned Senator Ron MacKenzie of Burlington.

In Wilmington, there is one prominent man running, and another prominent man who is not running.

Former selectman Michael Caira has announced that he will run. Selectman Jim Miceli has announced that he is not a candidate.

In announcing his decision not to run, Miceli cited the costs versus the possibility of being redistricted into another senate district in the near future. A veteran of a few campaigns, Miceli knows the costs of running, and said that the $10,000 it would cost to be elected just was not worth it.

The senate district consists of Wilmington, Burlington, Lincoln, Carlisle, Chelmsford, along with parts of Waltham, Lexington and Belmont. In all, there are now six candidates, two Democrats and four Republicans. State Rep. Carol Amick of Bedford and Joe McGuire of Waltham are seeking the Democratic nomination. In addition to Caira, Marvin Gilkie of Waltham, Markham Lyons of Waltham and Russell Miller of Chelmsford are seeking the Republican nomination.

Caira's statement

Michael A. Caira, 27, of 3 Moore Street, Wilmington has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the State Senate in the Commonwealth's 5th Middlesex District. The vacant seat will be filled via a special election slated for June 21. The primary election will be held on May 24.

In announcing his candidacy Caira stressed his professional background in government service and his active involvement in community affairs.

Mr. Caira received his bachelor of science degree in management from Boston College in 1971. He was elected to the Wilmington Board of Selectmen in 1972. At the time of his election he was the youngest selectmen in the Commonwealth. He was employed for over three years with the Executive Department of the Commonwealth as a staff assistant to former Governor Francis Sargent. Currently he serves as the business manager at Metropolitan State Hospital in Waltham where he administers the non-medical activities associated with the 600 bed psychiatric facility.

Mr. Caira is a former member of the MBTA Advisory Board, the Board of Directors of the Wilmington Regional Health Committee, and the Board of Directors of Share, the Greater Lowell Drug Rehabilitation Program. He is currently a member of the Winchester Hospital Corporation and a trustee of the Wilmington Regional Health Committee.

Mr. Caira is a past president of the Boston Archdiocesan Young Adult Council and was a 1972 recipient of the "Eagle of the Cross," the highest national Catholic youth and young adult award. He is an active member of the Order Sons of Italy in America, where he has held prominent positions on local, state and national levels. He is a member of the Wilmington Council, Knights of Columbus, and holds membership with the Greater Lowell Baseball Umpires Association. He was named an "Outstanding Young Man of America" in 1974.

Michael Caira is married to the former Jane Tryon of Belmont. They have two daughters, Jennifer, three and Angela, one. The 19 year resident of Wilmington has long been interested in government service. He is a fiscal conservative who feels the major responsibility of the Legislature is to determine governmental priorities by allocating available resources through fiscal responsibility. Caira feels the issues include the economy, legislative encroachment on home rule, and the preservation of the integrity of the two party system.

Two Wilmington selectmen reversed their votes Monday night, denying the transfer of a liquor store license that had been voted in two months earlier.

The transfer was to have been from Frank Griffin's Church Street Hardware to Michael Elia. Griffin is selling his business and moving to Florida. Elia sought to buy the license and establish a liquor store in East Wilmington.

The selectmen had approved the transfer in February, but the state Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission remanded the license to the selectmen for further study, citing the impact on the community and the neighborhood.

More than 50 people crowded into the Town Hall for the vote. The assembly was not a formal hearing, but proponents and opponents were allowed to speak.

Attorney Richard Cutter, from the office of his father, Attorney Simon Cutter, spoke for the transfer. Cutter acknowledged the traffic problem at the proposed site, but said that the traffic was industrial, and that the traffic problem would be there whether or not the liquor store was there.

He pointed out that there are no schools or playgrounds in the area, and the proposed site was close to Route 129, and not a part of the neighborhoods in the area. He said that the traffic problem was a matter of 10 hours a week, and that the package store would be open 78 hours a week.

The first person to speak up was John Sanborn, a Church Street resident. He said that the traffic problem was not because of Elia and he should not be penalized for it.

Former selectman George Boylen led the opposition to the license transfer. He said that a package store would add to the detriment of the neighborhood. He said he thought the liquor license should stay where it is, in Wilmington Center.

James Rooney spoke up for the license transfer, pointing out that he lived adjacent to the proposed site for the store. Rooney, a police officer, lives on Oxford Road.

Michael Elia told the selectmen that he had presented a copy of a report which showed that there were more traffic accidents at Woburn and Lowell Streets in 1974 and 1975 than there were at West and Lowell Streets, at which the store was to be located.

The question of land takings in the area came up. Scott Kent of Ledgewood Road said that if land were to be taken, for the Route 129 Cloverleaf, then it would be foolish to allow a liquor store there now. Kent also raised the question of ownership of more than one license in town by a company, corporation, individual, or family. Mike Elia's brother John holds a license in North Wilmington.

When the question of land taking was raised again, Selectman Jim Banda said that the land for the 129 cloverleaf had already been taken, and that the liquor store land was not among it.

John Quinno spoke out against the transfer. He asked why the liquor license couldn't be located where it belongs, in the shopping center. As a for instance, he named the Colonial Park Mall, which is at the other end of Lowell Street.

Boylen summed up for the opposition, saying that the neighborhood is sincere in opposing the license.

Banda moved for approval of the transfer. Gillis seconded, as a matter of procedure, but then asked Griffin if there was another purchaser for the store and the license together, if the Elia transfer were turned down. Griffin answered that there was.

Miceli then announced his thinking in voting against the license transfer. He said that the competition was not a factor in his decision. He said, though, that "the best lobbyist around is the guy on the other corner." He said that it was a tough vote for him, but that he was responsive to what he saw. Speaking to the neighbors, he said, "I'm not about to shove it down your throat."

Gillis said that he came onto the Board of Selectmen saying that he was going to do something about the West Street intersection, but that he hasn't been able to. He said that the question to Griffin and the answer had changed his vote. He said that he was not too much interested in the competition either.

Chairman Aldo Caira said that he had driven home through the area, coming off Route 93, and that he found it to be too congested with traffic. He said that he didn't think there was a need for a license in that area.

When the vote was taken, Banda was the only one voting for the transfer.

Candidate Caira

Wilmington's entry in the 5th Middlesex Senate District primary, Michael Caira, files his nomination papers with Town Clerk Esther Russell. With Mike are his wife Jane and daughters Angela and Jennifer.

Big bunny

Fayette and Stephanie Hancock of Dunton Road were among the hundreds of children who turned out at the Town Park on Saturday afternoon for an Easter egg hunt. The Easter Bunny was there, and with her helpers, she made sure that each child got some candy. One of the bunny's helpers was Jack Cushing, chairman of the Wilmington Recreation Commission.

Hambleton proposes 'shadows'

The chairman of industrial arts at Wilmington High School has proposed a "shadowing" program to give students an idea of the work involved in a particular career.

Under the program, a student would be assigned to a designated person, and allowed to observe that person in his daily work routine. The student would be that person's "shadow."

The proposal was presented to the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce at a Tuesday morning breakfast meeting. Industrial Arts Chairman Alfred Hambleton said that a restructuring of basic school subjects around the theme of career development would assure that students graduating high school would have a salable skill or be prepared for further education.

Hambleton spoke of career education throughout the educational program from elementary school through senior high school. Elementary students can be given a meaningful overview of the world of work, and the exposure increases in junior high and high school.

Key Club recycling

The Key Club, high school sponsored by the Kiwanis is to have a recycling day on April 23, the weekend following the spring school vacation. Three materials are to be collected: paper, glass and aluminum cans.

It will be a day-long affair, from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Residents are urged to call 658-2378 or 658-6693 if they have newspapers, aluminum cans, etc. to set aside for recycling.

Two bodies better than one Crusaders, Militiamen in non-merger

Another chapter has turned in the history of the Crusaders Drum and Bugle Corps. The corps has worked an agreement with the Bedford Militiamen Drum and Bugle Corps where the two units will maintain individuality, but combine for competition purposes.

Now sponsored by the Tewksbury-Wilmington Elks, the Crusaders are known as the "Musical Ambassadors." Recently, the corps has grown from 40 members, a Class C corps, to 90 members, making it a Class B corps. With so many of the members new, the corps found it quite difficult to win points in competition.

Meanwhile, in Bedford there was a similar dilemma. The Militiamen, a talented group of some 30 members, was experienced in Class B competition. But they did not have enough members.

The answer was obvious - a merger would help both groups. But the nature of a drum and bugle corps is to have pride in its identity, and neither group wanted to sacrifice that. So now the two corps work together. On the field of competition, the unit will be known as the Crusading Militiamen of Wilmington-Bedford. The youngsters participating, though, will be members of the Wilmington Youth Crusaders and the Bedford Militiamen.

The two groups have made many sacrifices in their effort, and the number of practice hours have been doubled. Through the efforts of Mike Gangi, the corps secured the use of the vacant Grant's store at Wilmington Plaza for practice in foul weather. Practice sessions are held on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings and on Saturdays and Sundays at 10 a.m.

The first appearance of the season was in the St. Patrick's Day Parade in South Boston. The next appearance will be on April 17, during the half-time ceremonies at a charity basketball game in Andover. The New England Patriots Basketball Team will play against the Essex County Sheriff's Department, with proceeds going to disadvantaged children. Details are available at the Town Crier office.

The group's first competition will be in May. The young people are determined to be a well-disciplined, talented and respectable group. Few groups, if any, win a championship on their first try. In this case, the corps are figuring that two bodies are better than one - and their's is always the "impossible dream."

Cricket Magazine art at Wilmington Library

A special exhibit of 34 pieces of original art work from the outstanding new children's magazine Cricket will be on display in the Wilmington Memorial Library conference room for two weeks beginning Tuesday, April 19 as part of the library's celebration of National Library Week.

Among the well-known artists whose work is represented are Garth Williams, illustrator of Charlotte's Web and the Little House books; Quentin Blake, several of whose amusing children's books are currently on display in the adult section of the library; Lloyd Alexander who is perhaps better known as the Newbery Award winning author of The High

King and Trina Hyman who has illustrated over 80 children's books and who is art director for the magazine. Many of the artists presented are from New England.

The exhibit, which represents a fraction of Cricket's permanent art collection is on a national tour and available to the library through a federal grant to the Eastern Massachusetts Regional Library system. Mrs. Sarah Rueter, children's librarian, feels that Wilmington is particularly fortunate in having the exhibit and urges all those interested not to miss this splendid opportunity. Catalog listings of the content of the exhibit are available in the children's room.

Salmon and shad for the Merrimack River

Plans for returning salmon and shad to the Merrimack River are to be discussed in a workshop at the University of Lowell, Saturday starting at 1 p.m. in Weed Hall, off Broadway Street. The Tewksbury Rod & Gun Club is one of the sponsoring organizations.

Peter Oatis, chief aquatic biologist of the Mass Division of Fisheries and Wildlife will present the history and the ecology of the river, and an overview of a five year restoration plan. There have been, in the past few years, extensive clean-up programs. Salmon once spawned as far upstream as the headwaters of the Merrimack River in northern New Hampshire. Spawning shad reached Lake Winnepesaukee. The construction of dams, in 1850 stopped the salmon. But in 1877 fishways were constructed and for 16 years adult salmon could make their way up the river. Increased pollution eliminated salmon from the Merrimack by 1898 for the second time.

It is significant that Atlantic salmon are now to be given another chance to repopulate the Merrimack.

The program is to be divided into six parts: History and ecology of the river by Peter Oatis; Lower Merrimack restoration efforts by Russ Ivanowicz; Upper Merrimack basin restoration efforts, by Alexis E. Knight, project leader; review of the cost sharing arrangements by Congressman Tsongas or a staff member; a question and answer period and finally a 22 minute color film on Atlantic Salmon conservation.

Squirt A's rip Cambridge

The Tewksbury Squirt A's finished up their season last Saturday, with a 6-2 victory over Cambridge, in league action, at Wilmington.

Tewksbury jumped into a nice lead scoring two quick goals, 30 seconds apart, in the opening period.
Defenseman Tim Kelly assisted on a shot from the point. On the same shift, Brian Keane lit the lamp on a Kelly assist. Jackie Fowler notched what proved to be the game winner closing the first period giving Tewksbury a 3-0 head start.
Cambridge scored once in the second period while Tewksbury was held scoreless.

Starting another three goal scoring siege, in the final period was Tony Luma lighting the boards in a Danny Small pass up play. Kyle Roy put one by the Cambridge goalie with an assist from Russ Mann and Eddie Della Piana scored from the hustle of Tim Kelly. With three minutes to go, Cambridge managed its second goal by Steve Duncan.

WILMINGTON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

IT'S TIME FOR ROAD-SIDE CLEAN-UP

The Chamber of Commerce and the Town of Wilmington will hold their Annual Clean Up Progeam, Friday, April 22, 1977, from 10:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. Rain date: Saturday April 23.

Each year the various youth groups of Wilmington volunteer to clean the roadways of the non-residential sections of the town. This year the Chamber of Commerce is trying to encourage the residents of the town to participate in this worth-while community effort.

The Chamber of Commerce will supply bags, gloves, and pick-up of rubbish, to any resident who wishes to pick up the litter along their street and neighborhood. Patricia Taylor, Executive Secretary for the Chamber suggests that anyone who is interested in participating call her at the Chamber office at 657-7211 between 1 - 3 p.m. or contact the current president, Marvin Weiner daily at 658-9330.

This is another of the Community Services promoted by the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce.

Land of Nod

Some officials from Choate Hospital were in North Wilmington yesterday to inspect the Regional Hospital site. They heard for the first time tales of the Land of Nod, and their faces tell the story.

Women's Club meets April 21

The last meeting of the season of the Wilmington Women's Club for the season will be held on Thursday, April 21 at the United Methodist Church with the Conservation Department acting as hostesses. The program will begin at noon with refreshments followed by a business and annual meeting. A Bonzai Demonstration will then be offered.

Annual dues are payable at this meeting and tickets will be available for the May 12 outing to Strawberry Banke in Portsmouth, N.H. The cost of the tickets will be $7 and will include bus fare and tour fee.

LETTER

Dear Larz:

The community we live in is, indeed, a very special one! It is special because its citizenry is made up of loving, caring people. I cannot recall many weeks passing without reading of their fine deeds in this very newspaper, therefore, I am asking all of you to respond to a very grave situation. Your greatest responses have always been to those in need. Can you imagine the sadness and frustration we feel when we must say, "I'm so sorry! I cannot find anyone to help you and I've contacted every person on our lists," and we know how vital the request is?

We're not a new organization, but our renewal is essential. We do need one special skill, the ability to drive an automobile. It is a skill mastered by many people in all age groups. Most of our helpers are retirees and homemakers with small children, who take their children along when they help. We've found most people need our assistance during the week, in the morning and early afternoon hours.

We are not physical therapists, but we can get people to therapy. We are not doctors, but we can get people to hospitals and doctors' offices. We are not counselors, but we can get people to counseling. Our role becomes as important as theirs, for people cannot get these services if they cannot get to the place where these services are provided. This is the grave danger!!!

We must be able to help, or our existence cannot be justified! You can give as much or as little time as you like, we're extremely flexible.

May wedding for Jane Anderson

A May 24 wedding is planned.

Minute Men elect Curley

The Wilmington Company of Minutemen has recently elected its officers for 1977.

Frank Curley was elected captain; the new lieutenant is Jack Betts; adj. sgt. is Dave Blackburn and Co. Sgt. is Peter Wicks.

Bob Sweet, Milt Bradford and Chuck Cornish were appointed water bearers.

The new officers will lead their company to St. Dorothy's Church on Sunday, April 17 at 10:30 a.m. to commemorate Heritage Sunday. This is their annual recreation of the prayer meeting conducted for the original company in 1775 by a clergyman who rode from Boston to deliver the sermon.

Following the ceremony at St. Dorothy's, the company will reassemble at the old section of Wildwood Cemetery. At noon they will lay a memorial wreath at the tomb of Cadwallader Ford, Jr., the man who led the original Minuteman company to Concord as their captain on April 19, 1775.

That march to Concord will be repeated again this year by members of the company, as they have in past years. The company will assemble on the town green at 2 a.m. Monday, April 18, and after a breakfast will depart for Concord on foot. A pancake breakfast will await them in Concord.

Other members of the company will lead the group for Lexington to participate in the 6 a.m. re-creation of the Battle of Lexington, held annually.

The entire company will then return to Wilmington to participate in the huge annual Patriot's Day parade, followed by the traditional Minutemen's ball.

From there it will be back to Wilmington where each Minuteman will have his annual fast cooking ceremony. It will be a busy season for the Wilmington Company of Minutemen again this year, with various parades and ceremonies, including their own liberty pole raising in Wilmington in May.

Spiffy

Tuesday afternoon was cleanup day at the Glen Road School in Wilmington. Four classes of fourth and fifth grade pupils set to work and cleaned the yard in little more than an hour. Golden Agers According to the records at hand, two members of Wilmington's Golden Age Club will be observing birthdays next week, Ruth Trout of Lawrence St., on April 19 and Esther McElaney of Grove Ave., on April 18.

The cranberry bog dam

Wilmington voted $135 thousand to build a sidewalk along Glen Road, and authorized the construction to not necessarily follow the line of the road. From Beeching Avenue it is possible now to walk to the Glen Road School. A roadway has been built over the old dam site. From the Glen Road School it is possible to walk Garden Avenue to King Street, and thus half way down Glen Road.

There are some who suggest the dam site pathway is worth an investigation.

Also Ann and Fred Antinorelli of Carey St., Wilmington observed their 12th wedding anniversary on April 12.

According to the records at hand, Ellen and George Ford of Coolidge Rd., Wilmington will dance the Anniversary Waltz for the 44th time on April 16. Jo and Victor Connors of Nickerson Ave., Wilmington will observe their wedding anniversary on April 19.

Charlie and Cal McLaughlin of Hillcrest St., Wilmington will celebrate their 30th anniversary on April 20.

Fred and Diane Hancock of Kilmarnock St., Wilmington will observe their 28th wedding anniversary on April 21. April 20 will mark the 10th wedding anniversary of Jean and Chuck Reinbolt of Sprucewood Rd., Wilmington.

Hugh Wiberg to speak at Wilmington Library

Want to learn about back yard gardening? A real home grown expert is to speak on that subject, on April 30 at the Wilmington Public Library, starting at 8 p.m.
Hugh Wiberg lives on Andover Street, in Wilmington, and he speaks on WBZ radio, in a talk that is sponsored by the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture. He has written a book on back yard gardening. His own back yard shows the results of his 15 years of learning, by trial and error. Quite justly he has become a well known authority.
The two trees in back of him, for instance, and the cider press beside him, in the picture. That's for the Wilmington Minutemen.
Hugh planted the trees 15 years ago, when he first decided to become a back yard gardener. They were coming along nicely, when the Wilmington Company of Minutemen were reconstituted.
One of the trademarks of the Wilmington Minutemen is the apple cockade which they wore in their hats. That is to commemorate the Baldwin Apple, which was the first grown in Wilmington. The Minutemen always have a barrel of apples at every meeting, so they can eat of them at will.
Every year now Hugh gets 30 or 40 bushels of apples from those two trees, which are carefully cultivated. That's horse manure, for instance on the ground, underneath those trees.
Hugh gives apples to the Minutemen, to have in their barrel, and he also squeezes apples, in the Minuteman cider press, for the Minutemen to quaff, at their meetings.
About the only thing in gardening that he has not done is to win the wholly mythical Town Crier Golden Pea Spoon award. That is given annually to the first back yard gardener (non professional farmer) sometime about June 15 who has peas for dinner, grown in his own back yard.

WHS track closed

Sports Editor's note: Monday night Wilmington High Track Coach Frank Kelley walked into a special meeting carrying a brick.

The brick was discovered the previous week. Concerned citizens have expressed the opinion that the track should either be fixed or the entire boys and girls WHS track schedule cancelled.

As it stands now both the boys and girls track teams will be forced to hold the remainder of the track schedules away from home.

The Town Crier was told that rocks have been removed from the running area several times. A former WHS trackster ruined a pair of running shoes when a spike was pulled from a shoe. Injuries to WHS runners have not been out of the ordinary.

Tuesday afternoon Superintendent of Schools Walter Pierce visited the track and agreed that it was hazardous. He ordered the track closed for the safety of the youngsters.

Concerned citizens to town:

Tuesday April 12 the Wilmington Spring Track Team reported to practice as usual at 2:20 only to find that their track had been condemned. They had no place to practice.

It appears as though a meeting between some members of the community and school officials had been called the night before and had resulted in much criticism of the after-school athletic program. The original subject of the meeting had been the hockey and basketball programs, but the conversation switched its focus from that of the program and coaching abilities to that of facilities. It was brought out that many of the facilities were far inferior to those of other teams in the league. Basketball was particularly in for criticism.

During the course of the meeting the subject of the track was brought up. It was pointed out that the track facilities were not only inadequate, but unsafe. Potentially someone could be severely injured by using the facility.

Questions were asked about the adequacy of the equipment and facilities. Members of the school system seemed quite concerned. Their response was immediate.

Now the athletes are safe, but what are the implications of this action? Rather than have them run on an unsafe track, the athletes will have to run on the streets of Wilmington, which are "much safer." The javelin throwers, shot putters, discus throwers, high jumpers, pole vaulters, long and triple jumpers will all practice in different areas, if the appropriate spots can be found. There will be 10 different groups of boys (and finding places for the girls' team magnifies the problem) practicing in 10 different places. Does this make sense? As it stands, a coach will have to be responsible for four different locations at the same time.

What is the real result of this action? You have hundreds of youths in the town of Wilmington with no track to practice on. They are expected to practice on the "safe streets" and then, for a meet, convert their practice running to a track.

You also have many adults who like to jog with no place to go. What do you do? The solution is simple - either you say we will provide adequate facilities, or you decide to have no track. You tell kids, and people in general, you cannot run, be it for pleasure or competition.

You have a group of people who love to run. You have a sport where all practice together. You have a sport where all compete, regardless of ability. You have a sport which has produced two state championship teams in recent years. You have an activity in which more and more adults participate each year. Is the town to say we don't care about you?

WHS Boosters meeting

A meeting of the Wilmington High School Sports Boosters Club has been scheduled for 8 p.m. May 2 at the Mildred Rogers School.

Charlotte Stewart has told the Town Crier that people are urgently needed to sell ads for next fall's football program. The money made from the ads will be used to help buy WHS athletes championship jackets. Mrs. Stewart urges anyone who has watched or played a WHS sport to offer their services in selling advertisement.

The Booster Club is concerned about funds for next year. The crop of talented junior athletes could bring WHS several successful teams - and money will be needed to provide the youngsters with the jackets that are a source of pride in Wilmington.

Selling instructions will be available to all those who are available to sell the advertising space.

Wildcat leaders

Wildcat co-captains Rich Medeiros, and Jim Stewart flank injured star catcher Bob Woods. Woods broke his thumb in last week's action.

MVC opener

Wildcats crush Lancers

The Wilmington High School baseball team got the 1977 MVC baseball schedule underway with an 11-4 pounding of visiting Lawrence yesterday.

Steve Woods, Rich Medeiros, and Tom Stewart led a Wildcat attack that erupted for six runs in the third inning to put the game away.

Woods went two for three with two runs batted in; Medeiros had two hits, a walk, scored three times and drove home four runs; and Stewart had a pair of hits to drive home two runs. Pitcher Jim Stewart went the full seven innings - striking out six Lancers while walking two. The 11 hit Wildcat attack helped Jim bolster his record to 2-0.

Lawrence jumped out to a 3-0 first inning lead, but Coach Jim Gills' crew bounced back with three runs of their own in the bottom of the inning. A Steve Woods walk was followed by a two out triple by Bruce Butters and a two run homerun by Medeiros that tied the game.

The sixth inning explosion was aided by Lancer wildness as Jim Stewart, Randy Foster, and Dave Sousa all walked.

Bruce Butters was hit by a pitch and another run scored on a wild pitch. Driving across the WHS runs in this inning were Medeiros (single), Tom Stewart (double-two RBI's) and Steve Woods (single-two RBI's).

Wilmington scored single runs in the fourth and the sixth to close out the struggling Lancers.

In the fourth Jim Stewart singled, stole second, went to third on an error, and scored on an infield out by Medeiros.

The sixth inning run came across on an Art Sughrue infield hit.

WHS played without the services of star catcher Bob Woods who broke his thumb last week.

The next Wildcat tilt is Thursday, April 14 at Chelmsford. Game time is 3:30 p.m.

The makeup game with Bedford will be played Friday, May 26. The next Wildcat home game is Monday, April 18 against Austin Prep.
